

ESGI Search Taps Messina for Raytheon Global Strategy Post

For Immediate Release

Washington, D.C. — Evan Scott Group International, a retained executive search firm specializing in senior-level searches for federal contractors, announced that it has helped Raytheon Co. hire Gary Messina as Vice President of Global Marketing.

Messina brings more than 30 years of technology and business experience in both the public and private sectors to Raytheon, a leading technology company that specializes in defense, homeland security, and other government markets throughout the world. Most recently, he served as a Corporate Director for L-3 Communications Headquarters' Operations, and was responsible for homeland security operations internationally, which involved all 85-business units worldwide. Prior to L-3's acquisition of Titan Corp., Messina was Titan's Strategic Development Executive, a position created to develop holistic business concepts and long-term strategies both nationally and internationally for the company.

Messina also served 27 years in the federal government, and retired in 2004 as chief information officer for the Bureau of Citizenship & Immigration Services. In this position, he managed the day-to-day operations of a government and contractor staff of more than 200 individuals in an organization with an annual budget in excess of $250 million, which provided support to over 15,000 employees worldwide.

"Gary Messina's vast experience dealing with governments and businesses worldwide made him a perfect fit as Raytheon's Vice President of Global Marketing," said Evan Scott, president and founder of ESGI. "This is a wonderful opportunity for both Raytheon and Mr. Messina."
